Birth chart Profile Report Introduction Welcome to your Birth chart Profile Report! The moment of birth is a unique point in time for each of us. It is our cosmic connection with universal forces. Astrology is a language that helps translate the symbolism of celestial events into a type of understandable psychology. The birth chart is a Blueprint of our consciousness. It is a magical Road Map pointing to potential transformative experiences. There are numerous paths indicated. Some are easy. Others lead to great soul-searching and challenge us to grow. It is our freedom of choice to create options. Astrology is a tool. We carve out our own destiny. The Birth chart Profile Report is loaded with information. Some descriptions will appear to contradict each other. This is confirming that each of us is a complex mixture of different identities and tendencies. Astrology helps clarify these individual dimensions of ourselves. The primary ingredients of the birth chart are the planets, signs and houses. The 10 planets symbolize different ways to direct action. The signs give a coloring or shading to the planets. For instance, the ego needs depicted by a person's Sun sign will manifest quite differently through Aries than the sign Cancer. Fiery Aries is known for being more abrupt and direct. Watery Cancer is usually more reflective and introspective. The 12 houses or pie slices represent different life arenas where our life is acted out. Each house is a territory saturated with valuable clues about our creative energies. The planets can be compared to actors and actresses. The signs are the costumes and makeup adorned by the performers. The houses are more related to Act One, Scene One. They are more similar to the setting. There are no "good" or "bad" charts. We are born with the cosmic situation needed to fulfill our life purposes. Each chart will show certain themes that are easy to master. There are some themes that really require great determination to avoid their seductive traps. The birth chart is a multi-dimensional lens offering suggestions how to redirect negative energies into positive expressions. The report has two sections. Part One is The Passport. It includes the Sun, Moon and Ascendant. These are the first, middle and last names of our astrological identity. The remaining personal planets complete this section: Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. Part Two is The Journey. It contains the outer planets: Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. These three planets point to special themes that can enrich our life greatly. The Nodes of the Moon follow. The nodes are a dynamic polarity indicating paths to fulfillment and in making use of past life energies. The last section of Part Two contains the planetary aspects. These are angular distances between certain planets in your chart that show creative options to challenges. If you are well versed already in exploring astrology, perhaps this report will give a different slant on certain areas. If this is your first investigation of yourself through astrology, don't let it be your last! Enjoy your tour through the Birth chart Profile Report!

Sun in Leo (☉ in ♌)

Your spirit is fueled by your self-confidence. The keyword phrase for Leo in traditional astrology is "I create". Your will to express yourself can be powerful! Following through on creative impulses bolsters your self-esteem. A shadow of fiery Leo is extreme bossiness. Another is the need to be the center of attention. Master these two tendencies and life will seem more rewarding. Sharing the spotlight with others attracts cooperation. Letting others lead their own lives opens their hearts to you. Relationships can inspire you to go beyond your limitations. Falling in love is exhilarating. Sharing leadership roles brings harmony. Cheering a partner or loved one onto success wins their admiration. Don't let pride be the cause of friction. Shared creative experiences and going to fun places deepens your relationships. In business you may display relentless energy. Promotion of self and others comes naturally. Work or a career that frees you to be dramatic is stimulating. Avoiding power struggles is a wise policy. You probably like being the boss or at least having a lot of latitude to make your own decisions. A hobby may become a career. A spiritual test for Leo is admitting when you are wrong. Letting others make a mistake without persecuting them shows wisdom. Your allies are humor and creative passion.

Sun in 9th house (☉ in ♏)

Your Sun lighting up the 9th house points to expressing yourself through knowledge and expansive insights. A restless search for self-discovery is highlighted. Education and filling your mind with new learning is stimulating. Travel elevates your consciousness and enriches your life philosophy. Truth and honesty are important ingredients of your thought processes.

The powers of persuasion guide your tongue. Knowing there are options relaxes your mind. You are a natural consultant. The Sun in this house challenges you to not get attached to only one version of the truth. Listen to the perspective of many voices. This shows you the way to greater growth. Dogmatism is not an ally. It is the illusion. Travel on many paths on the physical and mental planes. Enjoy the search as much as the results. If you get too expansive learn to concentrate. Let your knowledge guide you to paths that excite your mind and spirit. Faith comes through taking chances and trying to make your dreams real. Your creative energies enjoy the fast pace of this mentally charged territory. Teach. Communicate. Advertise. Persuade. Follow your natural tendency to bubble over with enthusiasm. Reach to those experiences that usually rekindle the fire. Exchanging thoughts with others that offer a different perspective arouses new insights. Interpreting life through multi-dimensional lenses deepens and expands your consciousness.

Moon in Aries (☾ in ♈)

Your inner world is a restless landscape. A forceful and bold imagination is probable. Your feelings react strongly to the opinions of others. Patience is a lesson. You are most comfortable when in leadership positions. A desire to be first and a competitive spirit are primary instincts. Family members might perceive you as bold and adventurous. Initiating intimacy with people and life pursuits can occur suddenly when your attention is captured. A test is self-centeredness. Giving and receiving emotional support needs to be a two way street. Another challenge is acting courageously. Fear of the unknown can hold you back. Running from the past repeats old problems. In relationships you like people able to take care of themselves. Risk-taking individuals may scare you and at the same time excite you. Straight forward people capture your immediate attention. Becoming secure with your identity is liberating. Temper tantrums alienate others. Being assertive is good for your soul. You enjoy a home and family setting that allows you to truly be yourself. A community or city needs to be vibrant with life in order for you to appreciate it. Your geographical location needs to feed your inner being with ways to confirm your identity and follow pioneering instincts.

Moon in 5th house (☾ in V)

The Moon glowing in your 5th house symbolizes that you seek comfort through what you create. You enjoy being seen as an entertainer. Being dramatic is a strong instinct. A career or job that requires performing for the public is possible. Cheering others on in life adds to their self-confidence. You are proud of loved ones. It is delightful when they help promote your most significant accomplishments. Growing too attached to the outcome of your actions is a potential problem. Let your children and lovers be themselves. You will not find it easy to dance to the music of others just to get their approval. You might get too emotionally intense if not getting your own way. Communicate. Look for the middle ground that is a "win-win" situation when negotiating with others. Your home and community needs to be lively and a vehicle to show your talents. Live in a location that expresses your love of people and enjoying various life pleasures.

Mercury in Virgo (☿ in ♍)

Your perceptions are thorough in nature. You communicate best when discussing subjects in which you are well versed. Learning about new areas of life increases your self-confidence. You may be compulsive in rehearsing or editing anything that you must present to the public. Criticism can be a sore spot. Use it delicately in relating to others. Don't be too hard on yourself. Nobody is perfect no matter how much we try. Sometimes making a mistake is better than extreme analysis of situations. You can always make needed adjustments or do some fine tuning. A work atmosphere that supports your need for organization and learning new skills is desirable. Rolling up your mental and physical sleeves is natural to meet the demands of a job. Stay simple in approaching what a challenge requires from you.
